

2001: Contradiction

The rocks claim understanding of the bay,
But the green eyes of the turbulent waves that oversee the shore
Cast an angry glare at the hillside.
White, foamy teeth chew the beach
While fingers of spray tap the bare backs of stone and sand.
The song of the sea, "Contradiction."